

“Detecting changes
in the infant’s status
at an earlier stage allows for prompt intervention and prevention of
further deterioration
leading to a more physiologically stable infant who requires less nursing time.”

Westrup, B. (2005). Newborn Individualized developmental care and assessment program: family-centered developmentally supportive care. NeoReviews, 6(3), 115-122.

